

As a citizen of Indiana, I strongly support the do-not-call law passed in my state. I urge you to not do anything that will weaken or eliminate our law. We hoosers feel that our law much more effectively meets our needs than the federal regulations.

I feel that the Indiana law preceeds the federal law, and should overridden by the federal regulations.

I also feel that the members of the CBA have no problems following all of the other Indiana specific laws pertaining to banking. I see no real reason they should have a problem with this law.

If CBA members cannot comply with Indiana law, maybe they should not do business in Indiana.
